Sea Monsters: A Nonfiction Companion To Magic Tree House #39: Dark Day In The Deep Sea

Synopsis

Track the facts with Jack and Annie! When Jack and Annie got back from their adventure in Magic Tree House #39: Dark Day in the Deep Sea, they had lots of questions. How big is a giant squid? What is a dragonfish? How do deep-sea creatures find food when it's so dark down there? What do scientists think mythical sea monsters might really be? Find out the answers to these questions and more as Jack and Annie track the facts. Filled with up-to-date information, photos, illustrations, and fun tidbits from Jack and Annie, the Magic Tree House Fact Trackers are the perfect way for kids to find out more about the topics they discovered in their favorite Magic Tree House adventures. And teachers can use Fact Trackers alongside their Magic Tree House fiction companions to meet common core text pairing needs. Have more fun with Jack and Annie on the Magic Tree House website at MagicTreeHouse.com!

Did you know that octopi are as smart as dogs? Or that Viperfish have 350 lights in their mouths? You'll find these and more interesting facts in SEA MONSTERS, the companion research guide to DARK DAY IN THE DEEP SEA. Discover old sea monster legends, info on squids, octopi, and other animals in the abyss. Also learn about prehistoric sea monsters, and exploration of the deep sea. I've met the Scientific Consultant for this book, Dr. Sonke Johnsen, he said that "The world will need thousands of new Marine Biologists, because we've only just begun to explore the mysteries of the deep sea." I'd highly recommend this book to all fans of the MAGIC TREE HOUSE series, especially kids ages 7-12, who are interested in Deep Sea animals. Fiat Lux!-Cybill

I actually have only read one "Magic Treehouse" book (Which I did enjoy), but I must say that I was very impressed with the sheer magnitude of this research guide. It's as entertaining as the fiction series--which commentaries by our favorite heroes--and thoroughly informative, going from the basics to mysteries to legends. There are plenty of facts of which I had never heard. The illustrations are also wonderful. Great research guide, indeed.

I bought this on advanced order for my grandson who upon receiving the book began reading at once. He is a huge Mary Pope Osborne follower and reported that the book was worth waiting for.

Both my grandsons (ages 6 & 8) love all the Magic Tree house books and the Fact Finder research guide books. They like to read them before going to sleep each night. Good books and good prices.

We give Sea Monsters by Mary Pope Osborne and Natalie Pope Boyce five out of five stars! It is a Magic Tree House research guide. We liked it because it gives readers information about new and prehistoric sea creatures, and sea life and their adaptations. For example, the Viperfish has 350 lights inside its mouth. Also, Colossal Squids do not give up easily when Sperm Whales attack them and try to eat them. Octopuses have sticky pads in there arms called suckers. We would highly recommend this book to grades 4 and up.

This book is by no means an encyclopedia, but has enough photos and variety (discussions of prehistoric and mythical sea creatures, in addition to contemporary sea creatures and explorers/scientists) to hold an eight-year old boy's attention.

I can't tell you how many of these books my son has read but it's a lot! He loves that they give real facts and a story. He has read this one a couple of times:)

This a great book with loads of information for young children presented in a fun way. I would recommend it to any teacher.
